Detailed information on the functionality of WinTVCap_GUI. WinTVCap_GUI was programmed in Delphi 2010 for Windows XP. It has been tested in Windows 7 as well as Windows 10. WinTVCap_GUI is freeware, so you don't have to pay anything for using it. You have an option to contribute to support the development of the software. WinTVCap_GUI is licensed under GPLv3 (LGPLv3 for win64). Installation: To install WinTVCap_GUI, simply extract the WinTVCap_GUI.zip to a folder you like. Usage: To use WinTVCap_GUI, you have to: - Set the path to WinTVCap_GUI. - Start WinTVCap_GUI using WinTVCap_GUI.exe /cmdline "TV/Radio/Record TV/Radio" or WinTVCap_GUI.exe /cmdline "TV/Radio/Record TV/Radio" /imagepath "imagePath" or WinTVCap_GUI.exe /cmdline "TV/Radio/Record TV/Radio" /imagepath "imagePath" /userparameters "Parameter 1" "Parameter 2" - Press "Run" to start the recording or schedule it. - WinTVCap_GUI will automatically close once the recording is done. Updates: I will release new versions with new features on a regular basis. To get updated on the latest version: - Open the Settings dialog in the WinTVCap_GUI Tray Icon. - Go to Version and download the newest version from there. - Go to the WinTVCap_GUI Tray Icon. - Start the WinTVCap_GUI Tray Icon. - Click on "Settings" (Version) to open the Settings dialog. - Click on "Reload" (OK) to open the latest version. - Click on "Settings" (OK) to close the Settings dialog. Known Bugs: - The Settings dialog does not close if you click on the button "Settings" (OK). If you close the Settings dialog manually or press the "OK" button, WinTVCap_GUI will work as expected. - If WinTVCap_GUI is closed while a recording is ongoing it will not start the next recording. If you close WinTVCap_GUI manually or press the "OK"

TeaTimer is a desktop application which is quickly becoming one of the preferred ways to keep track of time before a certain event takes place. This is especially true when you need to perform some rather repetitive task where you might run into some difficulty in carrying out the task. For example, you may need to water your plants before you go on a long trip, or if you need to keep your tea warm on a cold winter night. The application allows you to pick the event that you wish to set the timer for, and once you're done, you can just set the timer on your pc. TeaTimer comes with a few different features. First of all, there is a timer that you can set with different intervals. Next is the alarm that will sound when the time is up, and finally there is a hotkey that will let you launch the application with a keyboard shortcut. You can set the timer interval from 1 minute to a maximum of 10 minutes. TeaTimer lets you set the time at which your alarm goes off. When it is done, you can see a pop-up message with the information. If you happen to be away from your computer, you can make use of the external speaker that you have. If you press the hotkey, TeaTimer will be launched in the active window. The alarm can be disabled by pressing the mute hotkey, which will make it easier to mute all sounds at once. TeaTimer comes with some nice features such as the ability to use your keyboard to set the time. After you've set the time, you can either drag and drop the event you want to set a timer on, or you can even drag and drop the timer to the event. It can't be said that it will make your life much easier, but it does make the task a lot less complicated. TeaTimer also comes with an internal alarm system that will let 1d6a3396d6
