This tool is used to help you test the integrity of your computer after a Windows update. Simply start up Internet Explorer in reduced permissions (prerequisite: set to low-permission IE with Disable Protected Mode on), and then run Internet Explorer's ActiveX control scob.exe. If the version of IE in low-permission mode is the same as that running in normal mode, no protected mode ActiveX controls will be executed and you will not get a warning. This will allow you to test the integrity of your computer against the most recent security update.

Q: AWS CLI syntax for getting all instance types except x I need to get all instance types except one. For example, if I want all ec2 instances excluding the rds instance type, I need to do the following: `aws ec2 describe-instances --query "Instances[?Status.Code == 'Running']" --output text` Is there a way to not specify the instance type by name? For example, I could change the above to the following: `aws ec2 describe-instances --query "Instances[?Status.Code == 'Running']" --output text` But this returns all RDS instances. I want to get all ec2 instances except the rds instances.

A: From the documentation: The attributes of instance types, AMIs, and snapshots cannot be queried or filtered in the same manner as in standard queries. Instead, they must be queried and filtered separately.

Optically-induced generation of coherent spatially-multiplexed sub-diffraction gratings. We report the first demonstration of the coherent generation of sub-diffraction gratings in optical fibers. A spatially-multiplexed array of electrically-generated sub-diffraction gratings is amplitude modulated with a periodic electro-optical field, which is then transmitted through an optical fiber. We have measured the magnitude of the generated grating and found that it is of the order of $1 \text{ A}/(\text{mW}/\text{cm}^2)$. The magnitude of the gratings is limited by the strong coupling of the grating to the fundamental mode of the optical fiber.

Today, we are releasing the 0.4.0 version of our prototype, Crypterium in beta

Volvo Ocean Race y de Albacete fue el primer segundo lugar del Volvo Ocean Race 2017-18. Un resultado que asombró a todos aquellos que leyeron el vídeo en el que se mostraba el momento con que el viernes se esperaba la medalla a Thierry Sévenec al final del Rallye de San Marino. Para entender este triunfo, primero hay que recordar lo sucedido el 4 de marzo, cuando en el kick-off de la segunda edición del Rallye de San Marino, Valentino Rossi abandonó el Rallye y se retiró a media corrida de placer. Ante la evidente falta de motivación, el piloto della Red Bull Racing (en aquel entonces iba bajo su nombre) se desplazó a Emilia-Romagna donde, bajo el nombre de la marca italiana MRT Racing, comenzó a competir en el Gran Premio d'Italia, que culminó la misma semana en el Rallye de San Marino. En aquel entonces, el equipo de Eneko López (que llegó a ser el primer piloto de la Caravaggio - campeón de marcas) preparaba el Gran Premio d'Italia en una sólida posición según el ranking de puntajes y en el tema de los coeficientes de rendimiento de Emilia-Romagna encajaba perfectamente a la perfección. Al hacer este último punto, es difícil no pensar en las iniciativas del máximo responsable de la Caravaggio y así fue como el síndrome mental de la calidad
