the additional content is available in English.. Now I'm really starting to become a part of the fabric of everything that is happening around me. In many ways, the pilgrimage was exactly what I needed. Why do you think this is such a huge thing in your life? It is huge for me because I have already found myself over and over again. All the gifts that I am on the journey to manifest are being shown to me in my own life. I really do believe that the universe is conspiring to show me my life and how to get to the next level of my life. But to actually go through all of this so that the gifts show up for everyone in their own lives and for everyone who is able to hear and see them, is also powerful. We are all here together in this room and what is happening on the other side of the planet, all of this is coming through us. So what's next for you? I'm going to be finishing up some projects here, and then I will be traveling for a bit. I will be doing some music and I have a really huge interview I'm going to be doing with Ashanti Frasier, and I will have a full interview and article for Vibe Magazine. I also have some documentaries that I am doing on Be Real Productions.
I really look forward to creating some more projects and promoting them. What do you see yourself doing in the next five years? I hope to have a full range of projects that are working on; music and film. I would love to see my career continue, whether it's teaching, promoting, speaking, writing or whatever it is. I really see myself doing all of these things and doing them in a way that's not derivative or boring. I will continue to strive to be genuine and authentic, and that's what I want to bring into the world. How does it feel being an ambassador for your nation? I feel a responsibility to represent my people and my culture in a very strong and very positive way. As an immigrant myself, I know how difficult it is to come here and start from scratch. To be

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a method for manufacturing a compound semiconductor device using gallium nitride based compound semiconductor. The present invention relates to a method for manufacturing a semiconductor device having a compound semiconductor layer, and particularly to a method for manufacturing a semiconductor device having a nitride compound semiconductor layer. 2. Description of the Related Art In recent years, researches have been made on compound semiconductor devices using GaN-based compound semiconductor, such as a light-emitting device, a power device and the like. Such a compound semiconductor device is expected as a next generation light-emitting device of green, blue and white color.

In particular, researches have been focused on a laser diode device which is useful for short-wavelength light-emitting devices for light communications or optical disk. Additionally, researches have also been conducted concerning super junction structure and the like for the purpose of more practical use of the laser diode. As a compound semiconductor layer to be a substrate of such a compound semiconductor device, there has been mainly studied non-polar (011)-surface face growth of nitride semiconductor single crystal, assuming that a c axis of a nitride compound semiconductor is aligned to a [011] direction in a wurtzite crystal structure. However, a nitride compound semiconductor layer having such a (011) plane face growth structure has a problem that it is difficult to grow the semiconductor layer in a large thickness. This is because an ionization rate of nitrogen to be constituent element to be occupied with the crystal is lower than that to be occupied in any other plane orientations. In particular, the problem is significant in the case of growing a nitride compound
