(File) Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis on Tuesday said he has recovered from an illness and was "very happy" that the state has been declared free of the new coronavirus. As his government claimed victory in the count with the NCP, the Shiv Sena and the Congress, Fadnavis told reporters that a four-member team of doctors from the Union Ministry of Health has been asked to provide an assessment and their report is awaited. The first person to be infected with the virus in the country was from Maharashtra. "I have recovered from my illness, I am very happy that Maharashtra is free of Covid-19. After analysing the situation, I have instructed the Maharashtra State Health Department to gather all relevant information through proper inquiries. A four-member group of doctors from the Ministry of Health has been requested to arrive here to assess the situation. Their report will be submitted to me," the Chief Minister said. He said the report will help the government decide its future policy. "Till then, I will remain in quarantine," he added. Asked if he had any plans of returning to office, the Chief Minister said, "That will be decided by the expert committee." The poll watchdog Election Commission (EC) announced early voting on April 23 in Maharashtra. The 14 constituencies have been left to a scrutiny in the afternoon while the process of polling has been initiated in the morning. The vote count will be held on April 30 after which the results will be declared on May 15. In the state, where the BJP had won the 2014 assembly election by a comfortable margin of over two lakh votes, 1,653 polling stations are still being held and counting is underway in 71 of these.
